Weekly Roundup

Catcott treads the boards

It was an absolute pleasure to watch the children in each of their performances this week. They have worked tirelessly over the last few weeks learning lines and songs. The end result was brilliant, it was wonderful to see the children's confidence shine on the stage as much as it does in their classrooms. Now, as the tinsel and tea towels are packed away for another year, we can look forward to all of the celebrations the next week holds.

Who am I? - Deputy Headteacher
and Year 5 Teacher

A bit about me....

I have grown up in Somerset, attending Brookside school and Crispin School as a child. I moved back after studying Primary Education at University in Bristol and got my first job as a teacher here at Catcott 12 years ago!

I spend as much of the summer months as possible on the beach trying out all types of water sports and then I spend most of the winter moaning about being cold!

Before having my son, Ellis, I enjoyed travelling and have been lucky enough to visit lots of different countries around the World...we are now enjoying exploring places a lot more local to home!
